Shangri La is a museum for learning about the global culture of Islamic art and design through exhibitions, digital and educational initiatives, public tours and programs, and community partnerships. We create opportunities for positive narrative change and understanding, inspiring the public with the creativity of Islamic cultures.

Internship Overview:

The Education Intern supports the mission of Shangri La through the Center's innovative and socially conscious creative programming to broaden access and understanding of Shangri La's mission, collections and exhibitions onsite, offsite and online. The Center plays a key role in enabling Shangri La to be a bridge for the public to understand global culture and citizenship in the 21st century.

Internships in the Center Department at Shangri La provide professional training for students in Cultural Production, Arts Administration, Museum Studies, Education, Art History, or related programs. The Education Intern will assist with further development of education initiatives and coordination of onsite and offsite education programs as well as education digital media initiatives, contingent on the applicant's area of interest and past experiences.

Tasks may include assisting with the school and public tour and interpretive guide program, conducting research and developing content to create curriculum and learning resources online, onsite, and offsite, corresponding with community stakeholders, assisting in all levels of planning from brainstorming, to organizing details, to ensuring the successful execution of education programs, tours and resources, developing and producing content for social media campaigns with the Associate Curator of Digital & Emerging Media, working with external vendors to coordinate logistics, attending department meetings, working directly with artists, scholars and creative and responding to email and other inquiries.

Internship Requirements:

- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills;
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills;
- Ability to prioritize responsibilities and work well both independently and within a team;
- Experience with curriculum planning and coordination;
- Working knowledge of Adobe Creative Suite (including Photoshop, InDesign, Illustrator) is desired;
